HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H R Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use

NEW YORK Dec 15—A Herald London special says an important Papal bull has been issued under seal of strict secrecy establishing regulations for the Ecumenical Council In his exordium his Holiness exhorts the bishops to live in the practice of charity, humility sobriety and pious contemplation during the session of the Council He declares that although the right of making propositions for the Council belongs only to himself and the Court of Rome (ad nos et ad sanciam sedem) he desires and exhorts every Father to think it his duty to make propositions, but on these conditions First, the proposed proposition to be made in writing and to be submitted privately to a council of bishops to be named by the Pope; second propositions to have for their object the general interests of the Church, and not of any particular diocese third that they be accompanied by a statement of the motives which lead to their presentation fourth, it must be conformable to the spirit and traditions of the Catholic Church and his Holiness imposes secrecy on every person concerned in conciliatory labors The order of precedence offered is as follows Cardinal Bishops Cardinal Priests Cardinal Deacons Patriarchs Prelates Archbishops, Bishops Abbots and Generals of monastic orders The Fathers are authorized to designate ten of their number to be charged with the judicial settlement of contests arising among themselves. The bull appoints officers of the Council, naming as legates to preside over general congregations Cardinals Dereisach De Lucca Bonnarre Bilio and Capalti. Fathers who desire to harangue the assembly must obtain authorization from the legate the evening preceding the day on which they intend to speak Those who intend to propose propositions in caucus must first submit them to one of the commissioners On the fourth discipline of religious orders and oriental affairs three commissioners will be chosen by the Fathers, but each will be presided over by a Cardinal named by the Pope The bull prohibits the Fathers from absenting themselves before the conclusion of the Council and authorizes them to reside outside of their dioceses during the entire period of the Council The majority of the Bishops are dissatisfied with many of the provisions of the Papal bull

More American Accidents

[From the San Francisco Commercial Herald

It was thought that the late terrible railroad collision would have induced additional caution in managing and running the trains that at least some show of respect would have been paid to outraged public opinion that the memory of the slaughtered victims was too fresh to be treated with neglect and scorn that more care would be exhibited in selecting men to fill important although comparatively humble positions and that the time-tables would be seriously examined and revised with the view of eradicating defects and insuring greater safety If any of these reforms have been attempted the results indicate very slovenly and reprehensible execution On the very day when a large number of human beings were torn to pieces another collision occurred by the carelessness or ignorance of a railroad employee Scarcely had the journals put this sea[illegible] on record when we hear that the Oakland Ferry cars had run off the track and been wheeled for some distance within four or five inches of the wharf edge. That the cars were not [illegible] the time argues nothing for the company which persists in keeping its track in a position which is likely at any moment, to overturn the whole train into the bay and drown the passengers as completely as blind kittens are drowned in a bag Within a few days a whole train was blown off the track of an Eastern railroad Why should not a like event occur here? If it is possible and if it should take place on whose shoulders shall the guilt rest? Next [illegible] a locomotive followed by its attendant train jumping over a stick of timber and smashing a wagon to pieces the obstacle being left on the track by a stupid farmer, who should be sent to the State Prison. After this, we hear of another grand collision smashing two locomotives and strewing the track with debris of demoralized cars They happened to be freight trains this time and little damage was done to life, but the companies are not to be thanked, for their criminal carelessness unpardonable ignorance, or devilish recklessness caused the disaster, but, as the companies were the [illegible] the stupid selfish public holds its peace and quietly awaits its turn to be made into mince meat. One would suppose that all these "accidents" occurring one after another, in less than three weeks, would produce some [illegible] but the late narrow [illegible] which was crossing the track [illegible] rushing toward it, shows that no additional precautions have been taken. It is [illegible] that the engineer failed to ring his bell at that crossing. A Blast and Counter Blast

There have been considerable additions of late to the political literature of Washington Territory. To-day we publish an address from the Republican members of the Legislature to the Republican party of the Territory, in which a formidable indictment is presented against those who are endeavoring to disorganize the party there. This address was called forth by the conduct of the bolting faction headed by Flanders and Dennison, and is intended as a rejoinder to a circular recently issued by them, in which they declare that "the Republican party as it was and as it ought to be in this Territory has ceased to exist," and that they propose to reorganize it. Now the party "as it was" elected Flanders to Congress, and allowed the bolting clique he now associates with to control its affairs for a time; hence we easily arrive at the conclusion that the party can become what it "ought to be" only by reinstating these dissatisfied gentlemen in the position from which they have been excluded. Place them at the head of the party and allow them to manage its affairs and control its nominations as they once did, and the party would be "as it was," and in their judgment, just "as it ought to be." Their plea is, let things be "normal" again, and then there will be no cause for dissatisfaction, and the party will be entirely harmonious. There is a good deal of "cheek" in this plea, but none at all compared with that exhibited in another part of the address of the disorganizers, wherein they denounce those who adhere to the party as a swarm of hungry office-seekers. To appreciate the force and propriety of this it is only necessary to examine the list of names appended to the circular they have put forth. Two-thirds of them are [illegible] holders or disappointed aspirants, and most of the remaining one-third are [illegible]. Look at this list: Alvan Flanders, Governor of the Territory; B. F. [illegible], Chief Justice; A. A. Denny, ex-[illegible]; [illegible] Flinn, member of the Council; S. D. Howe, late Internal Revenue Assessor; F. A. Wilson, Collector of [illegible]; [illegible], U. S. Marshal; F. A. Clarke, member of the Council; J. G. Parker and C. H. Hale, late of the Indian Department, and a score more of officials, ex-officials and assistant officials who bring up the tail of the list. It is said that in Kansas every man bears the title of Colonel. A traveler who recently arrived in a Kansas town sought an introduction to its citizens and was introduced by his friend to one "Colonel" after another, to the number of thirty or forty. It began to get a little monotonous, and he asked for an introduction to some of the "common people." Thereupon he was introduced to about a dozen "colonels" more. Now the state in Washington Territory seems very much like that in Kansas. It is interesting to [illegible] where the "common people" are who [illegible] to join in this movement to make the Republican party of the Territory "what it was" in the days that the bolters [illegible].

The [illegible] by the Republican members of the [illegible] is [illegible] and earnestly written; [illegible] a little severe, but this, [illegible] is a venial fault. [illegible] the Republicans of [illegible] can win success in future is to [illegible] by their [illegible] and rebuke [illegible] of the bolting faction to disorganize [illegible].

Southern Prosperity.

[illegible] to excellent financial authorities money is rapidly becoming more abundant in the South than it is in many parts of the North, [illegible] "hard times" generally, as [illegible] in many of the Southern, [illegible] of the Northern, States. The [illegible] are really flush of money. [illegible] about twenty-two cents per pound for cotton, and [illegible] is cheaper with them than in any other part of the Western hemisphere. There is more money in cotton than [illegible] produced in America, and [illegible] planters are awaking to a realization of the proper method to pursue whereby most profit may be obtained from its cultivation. Before the war the use of fertilizers on Southern fields was almost unknown, because when a planter found that his land was [illegible] with his slaves to the new lands of the South-west. There is no longer any such easy solution of the difficulties attending the cultivation of exhausted soils, and the attention of planters has been directed to the use of fertilizers. The results of their experiments in this direction have already been very great. It is [illegible] that eight millions of dollars were [illegible] last year in the South for fertilizers alone, and [illegible], in many instances, the [illegible] more than quintupled. So successful have planters [illegible] who have used fertilizers that there is an [illegible] interest in the subject, and it is estimated by those who ought to know, [illegible] this information from Commissioner [illegible] and others who recently visited the [illegible] State Fair, that twenty-five [illegible] will be spent in the cotton States during the ensuing year for fertilizers. By this process it is expected that the cotton crop will be increased immensely, and its profits enhanced to a degree proportionate with the increased production.

In General.

The appellation of "Khedive" to the Viceroy of Egypt, recently became familiar by reason of frequent mention in our cable despatches, is a term of Arabic origin signifying "King." The word is variously spelt, and some authorities assert that the most correct orthography is "Kedervi" or "Hidevi."

The Little Rock (Ark.) Journal states that, "Hundreds of colored men in Arkansas have made each their one thousand dollars this year, and can do it any ordinary year with a good span of mules." What a chance is offered in Arkansas for three or four unemployed able-bodied lawyers of this region who have so much to say about "starvation wages!"

The letting of the bottom out of the gold market a short time ago made a great stir in all the Eastern cities. There were some imprecations on Secretary Boutwell; but according to the Boston Journal "most persons were hopeful. They remembered that gold has come down from 280 to 121¼, and there has yet been no great financial convulsion—and they do not see why the remainder of the journey back to specie payments may not be traveled without any greater disaster."

The Governor of Georgia a short time ago published a manifesto in which he exposed and denounced the revolutionary conduct of the usurping Legislature of that State, and called on Congress to vindicate its authority and enforce the national and local laws which had been set at defiance. This, undoubtedly, will be done, though the reactionists of Georgia talk ever so loudly about "the last ditch," and their Northern political admirers howl ever so dolefully about the "despoiled and down-trodden South."

Peter B. Sweeny, the great chief of Tammany, has written a letter to the New York Herald in which he states that he does not object to the Fifteenth Amendment on the ground that it will give colored men the right to vote, but because, as he alleges, that it will enable Congress to control the whole subject of suffrage. The Times retorts that it is easy to appreciate the animus of Sweeny's hostility, for if Congress should act on the principle he lays down, and appoint the judges of elections in a few of the wards of New York City the occupation of the Ring would be gone, never to return!

MISCELLANEOUS.

A minister retiring from a Wisconsin pastorate, compliments his flock through a newspaper in this sententious manner: "A good minister who desires a perfectly united church and as plucky a band of Christians as need be, can find a pleasant home with this people who are able and willing to pay all a minister is worth."

James M. Cavanaugh, Delegate to Congress from Montana, writes thus to a citizen of Helena concerning the speedy inauguration and building of the North Pacific Railroad: "I have been in New York several times relative to the North Pacific Railroad, and have conversed with the managers. The success of the road is a fixed fact. Congressional aid or not the road will be built. I predict that in less than five years you can pass by rail from Lake Superior to Puget Sound, through Minnesota, Dakota, Montana and Washington Territory. Work will be commenced early the coming spring, and will be prosecuted to a speedy consummation."

According to a correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, following is the cost of the Pacific Railroad: The Central Company have constructed 690 miles of road, and received in bonds and subsidy $23,003,000; bonds yet due from the Government, $3,361,000. Total subsidy, $26,364,000. The Union Pacific Company have constructed 1,088 miles, and received a subsidy of $52,985,000; bonds yet due from the Government, $3,752,000. The land subsidies to the roads are estimated at $52,141,000. Thus it will be seen that the work has cost the Government in bonds and land, the sum of $101,752,000. It is stated and generally believed, that the company has not been out of pocket a dollar, beyond what was given by the Government, and hence own an immense amount of property which has cost them nothing but a few years' time and attention.

The following is one of Thurlow Weed's "recollections," as related by himself to an "interviewer" of the New York Sun: During the late war, just after the evacuation of Yorktown by Gen. McClellan, I entered a car on a Philadelphia train, and took my seat beside a gentleman who wore a military cap, but showed no other signs of military rank. We got into a discussion on McClellan's campaign on the Peninsula. He defended him mildly, and I answered with a scorching exposition of his incapacity and blunders, demonstrating them fully. When we reached Trenton a young officer came up and saluted my companion very deferentially, and on inquiry I discovered that I had been talking to General McClellan himself. I think he felt, however, that I was right in what I had said by the feeble way in which he answered my criticisms.

The Davenport Brothers, now in Chicago, are meeting with their usual success in creating a sensation. A gentleman published in the papers a challenge, offering to wager $100 that he could tie the Brothers so that they could not free themselves without cutting the ropes, at the same time offering to bet another hundred dollars that he could prove that he had already so tied them. An agent of the Brothers, called upon the challenger, offering to accept his proposition, but as they immediately disagreed on the matter of the rope that should be used, the affair came to nothing. The curious part of this case is that the challenger is an ardent spiritualist, who believes in all the usual manifestations of mediums, but regards the Davenports as humbugs. But the Brothers, it is well known, do not now claim any spiritual assistance in their extraordinary performances, but exhibit themselves simply as jugglers.

THE WEST.

Large numbers of young maple trees are being dug up at Puget Sound for shipment to California.

Here is the touching obituary of a California town: "Red Dog is no more; You Bet has swallowed it."

At the municipal election in Sacramento on the 6th inst. the Republicans were successful, carrying the city for the first time in three years.

A San Francisco paper has this item: On production of license from the Supreme Court of Oregon, Edward W. McGraw was admitted to practice in the Courts of this State.

A few men of San Francisco and Stockton are preparing for the incorporation of a company to construct a ship canal from Stockton to the deep waters of the San Joaquin river. It is believed that a work of this character can be successfully completed.

John O'Neil advertises in a Montana paper that he will take "Deer Lodge county scrip in exchange for ready made coffins and all other kinds of furniture." A California paper thinks a cheap railroad in that vicinity would soon kill that "ad."

A Marysville (Cal.) telegram, dated December 5th, says "a most unfortunate suicide occurred in this city this morning. Miss Catherine Nesemann, a German girl aged 22 years, and employed as a servant in the family of Mr. Harvey, was found dead in her room, she having hung herself with a piece of clothes line."

Messrs. Mumford and Gamble, of the Telegraph Company, while in Olympia recently, informed persons there that the line north of the Columbia river has been a constant source of expense from the first, and that unless they can obtain assistance to defray a portion of the extra expense, the line will be abandoned.

The Gilroy (Cal.) Advocate reports that two miles west of Gilroy, among the foot-hills of the coast range, two hills of Lima beans were planted four years ago, producing vines that have continued to grow, blossom and bear every season since. The trunk seems to have assumed the consistency of wood, and the process of lignification is apparently still extending upwards.

British Expedition to the Upper Nile.

Sir Samuel Baker has written home to England from Cairo giving some particulars of the expedition of the Nile which he is about to undertake. The objects of the enterprise, as Sir Samuel Baker describes them, are:—

1. To annex to Egypt the Equatorial Nile-basin. 2. To establish a powerful government throughout all the tribes now warring with each other. 3. To introduce the cultivation of cotton on an extensive scale, so that the natives will have a valuable production to exchange for Manchester goods, etc. 4. To open to navigation the two great lakes of the Nile. 5. To establish a chain of trading stations throughout the countries to be annexed, so as to communicate with the northern base from the most distant point south, on the system adopted by the Hudson's Bay Company.

All these, however, are subordinate to the primary object of crushing the slave trade. Sir Samuel takes with him some fine cotton seed from Egypt, and hopes to establish as he goes a weekly post down the White Nile so as to be always within reach. His plan is to compel each tribe to cultivate a certain amount of corn and cotton, to prevent wars among the tribes and make each chief responsible for the acts of his tribe, to take tribute of them in labor, and to require an exchange of their productions for those of England so as to induce civilization and the modern inventions among them. He has in all a force of about four thousand men and is placed, by the Viceroy, in absolute authority. Five Arab shipbuilders accompany him to build boats on the Albert Nyanza, but he is to have at the start a flotilla of sixty-five steamers and sailing vessels. It was the tardiness of the steel steamers from England that had prevented the sailing of the expedition up to the time when Sir Samuel wrote.

FROM THE NORTH.

VICTORIA, Dec. 9.—Yesterday afternoon an inquest was held at Esquimalt concerning the late destructive fire before reported. The evidence shows conclusively that the fire was caused by an incendiary. Furniture, carpets, etc., were found saturated with coal oil, and it was proved that the cans of coal oil had been purchased in this city for Thos. Tugwell, who was proprietor of the Crown Hotel. Tugwell's furniture was insured for $700, of which there was very little on the premises when the fire occurred, and most of the furniture belonged to Mrs. Cox and was uninsured. This lady testified that a box containing plate and jewelry, valued at one thousand dollars, was missing from her room. The jury returned a verdict that the fire was the work of an incendiary. Wm. Young as principal and Thos. Tugwell as accessary were immediately arrested and lodged in jail.

NEVADA.

WINNEMUCCA, Nov., 16.—Governor Safford of Arizona passed on the train yesterday, en route for Washington. He believes that more rigorous measures against the hostile Indians will greatly promote the welfare of citizens in Arizona.

BEECHER ON RELIGIOUS TOLERATION.—We find in a New York paper a synopsis of the Thanksgiving discourse of Rev. H. W. Beecher, from which we extract as follows:

The next great source of national unity and the diffusion of intelligence is the common school system of country. Brain will always rule the world; it is God's decree that it should do so. What man needs to do is to see to it that all have an equal chance for its cultivation. This is pure democracy. Our common schools also reduce the inequalities among children. In the little germinant republic of the common school children of the high and the low, the wealthy and the poor, are obliged to mingle together, and the intercourse is beneficial to both. The law of a truly democratic life is "Liberty to grow, but equality at the start;" and this is just the motto of our common school system. It says to the youth of our country. "Stand here, with your feet on a level, raise your heads as high as you can." Hence our common schools ought to be good schools. No academy or high school in the land ought to be better than the common school. The nation cannot afford economy in this matter. Those purse-proud and aristocratic men among us, of whom there are unfortunately some, who object to sending their children to the common schools, should be compelled to send them there—not by law, but because they cannot find any other schools as good. [Applause.] He would be willing even to exclude the reading of the Bible in our schools if by that means any class of our people would be better satisfied, and more zealous in supporting the system. And certainly he, the son of a Puritan, and a Puritan himself, could not be suspected of deprecating the importance of Bible reading. The Puritans took their stand on religious toleration; let them stick to their text, and never abandon the principle of perfect, free religious toleration, nor suffer others to impose a different principle upon them. What, says the Catholic, "Do you think it proper to encourage infidelity—to bring up children without religious instruction?" Not at all. We do not teach husbandry in the common schools, but it does not therefore, follow that we wish to make lazy children. Every thing in its place. Let the Church teach dogmas. Let the common school give intelligence. Let religious instruction be taught in the household, in the Sunday school, in the church. Therefore, by all means, let our people guard and cherish the common schools of the country. Taxes for their support are the wisest expenditures a State can make, and they should be liberally imposed and cheerfully paid.

THE SUEZ CANAL.—The opening of the Suez Canal was celebrated with great eclat. It is one of the great events of the age, marking a new era in commercial intercourse, and destined to have a marked influence upon the countries of the East. In addition to the previous accounts, the following statements will be found interesting:

The canal follows mainly the line of the old Egyptian Canal of Sesostris, and though Robert Stephenson, son of the locomotive inventor, with others, received a commission for the work a quarter of a century ago, it was not until Ferdinand de Lesseps organized the Suez ship canal company in 1858, that the enterprise was really begun in earnest. The canal extends from Port Said, on the Mediterranean, 124 miles north of Alexandria, and a mushroom town which has grown up with and on account of the work, ninety miles to Suez at the head of the Red Sea. In its general appearance it resembles a ditch, 300 feet wide at the top, 100 to 150 feet wide at the bottom, with an average depth of twenty four feet, and connects four small natural lakes. The largest of those are the Bitter lakes, and the smallest, Timsah, on which is situated Ismailia, next to Port Said, the most important point on the canal, the headquarters of the company, and the residence of its principal contractors and officials. The head of the Bitter lakes extends within fifteen miles of Suez, and the navigation for small vessels has been uninterrupted to this point since the middle of last March. The number of workmen employed on the canal has been very large, over thirteen thousand men and one thousand donkeys having been at work on the Suez division since the opening of the northern sections.

The total cost of the work, up to the 30th of last April, was $57,660,000. During 1868, 2,088 vessels, aggregating 774,040 tons burden arrived at Port Said, and De Lesseps estimates that in the first year of the completion of the canal its business will increase to 8,000,000 tons annually. The financial success of the enterprise will depend, however, on its capacity for large vessels, without trans shipment of freight, as in no other way will the bulk of business be diverted from the present course around the Cape.

NEGLECTED COUGHS AND COLDS.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "common Cold" in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon preys upon the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Cough Lozenges, afford instant relief.

Price of Lands in Oregon —A letter from Be nt county, N.Y., enquiring the price of improved lands in this State, was handed us yesterday The writer wants to know what would be the chance for a man w th say three or four thousand dollars, to get a start Perhaps we can better answer than by quoting a paragraph or two from the pamphlet just published by the Board of Statistics: "Public lands are to be obtained in nearly all parts of the State A citizen of the United States or one declaring his intention to become such can locate them under the homestead laws and by occupation and cultivation for five years, acquire a title free of cost. Public lands can also be obtained by purchase at $1 25 per acre. Eastern Oregon has millions of acres of lands for settlement A great deal of it is agricultural land of the best quality In the western part of the State, also, are several large tracts at li vacant One valley in Clatsop and Tillamook counties would afford homes for three hundred families

Improved farms may be bought at from $5 to $20 per acre. Immigrants short of means rarely have any difficulty in renting farms with stock seed and implements, giving a share of the products for their use.

The highly productive nature of the soil renders the State capable of sustaining a population vastly in excess of the present number of inhabitants The Willamette valley alone has the capacity to support a million of people. Its present population does not exceed

African Exploration

DR. LIVINGSTONE AND THE SOURCES OF THE NILE —THE GREAT VALUE OF HIS DISCOVERIES—WHAT THEY PROVE.

In an article on the recent highly important letter from Dr Livingstone the African explorer, the last London Spectator shows the value of his discoveries and the facts which they have proved It says

But our delight at the prospect of seeing Dr Livingstone again in the flesh must not be allowed to overshadow the intense interest attaching to his discoveries Although in July, 1868—the date of his last dispatch—Dr Livingstone had not even seen Lake Tanganyika, and of course could not positively testify that the lake drained into the Nile he had yet found sufficient evidence, to say nothing of native information to justify the opinion that not only Tanganyika but a series of more southerly lakes contribute their quota of waters to the river of Egypt If this opinion should be correct, he will have solved the great problem of modern geography, and established his claim to the foremost rank of geographers of all ages Ptolemy's mysterious knowledge will prove to have been something real and Devoe's imagination will be regarded as having been strangely prophetic In order to appreciate what Dr Livingstone has done, or is doing it must be clearly understood what he was sent to accomplish. The dispute between Captain Burton and Captain Speke relative to the drainage of Lake Tanganyika could not be settled except by personal investigation Captain Burton believed that this lake flowed into the Nile but in such a case Speke's Victoria N'yanza would not to be the ultimate source of the river The latter, therefore, maintained with rather ingenious logic that the Tanganyika drained southward—probably into the Nyassa, and thence into the Zambezi Moreover, when Burton and Speke were on the lake its altitude was fixed by them at 1,844 feet, and if this were correct, it would be impossible, supposing other observations to be correct also, for the Nile to receive the waters of the Tanganyika. Baker made the elevation of the Albert N'yanza to be 2 720 feet, and as his observations were carefully tested on his return to England, their accuracy may be relied on But Speke's thermometer—with which his observations were taken—read 214°, instead of 212°, when brought down to the coast again, and Mr Findlay has always argued that 1,000 feet should be added to the altitude at which Captain Speke fixed the lake This would give it an elevation of 2,844 feet, and as Sir Samuel Baker had shown the Albert N'yanza to be but 2,720 feet, the Tanganyika would be 124 feet higher than the Nilotic reservoir, and the physical difficulty which seemed to intervene between it and the Nile would thus be removed. Dr Livingstone was directed to settle this question, to ascertain the altitude of the Tanganyika and the direction of its drainage, and to determine the nature of the whole watershed of this part of Africa. How much he had done toward this in July of last year, the interesting dispatch to Lord Clarendon which was read before the Geographical Society on Monday evening clearly shows, and there seems to be little doubt that during the sixteen months that have elapsed since he wrote, he has completed the great work which he undertook

At the time of writing his dispatch, Dr Livingstone had not reached the Tanganyika, but he had found a chain of lakes to the south which drained toward the north and, as he believed, through the Tanganyika into the Nile These lakes are fed by numerous rivers of considerable size, and should they prove to be the head waters of the Nile, we must look for the sources of the mighty river at least 400 miles south of the most southerly point of the Victoria N'yanza The River Chambese seems to connect these lakes with each other and with the Tanganyika, and the whole volume of water which they contain in all probability finds its way into the Nile We must wait for further information before we can say positively that these lakes and rivers are within the basin of the Nile, but there is every probability that the opinions which have been expressed in favor of this hypothesis will soon be verified. Livingstone's present journey has only confirmed what was brought to light in his previous travels, viz. That instead of the interior of Africa being a sandy desert, as was formerly thought, it is really rich in vegetation, and studded with lakes. But there is another fact which Dr Livingstone has discovered in connection with Lake Liemba and which goes far towards outweighing all others in importance. The altitude of this lake the Doctor ascertained to be 2,840 feet, thus showing that Speke's observations were incorrect, and that Mr Findlay was probably right in saying Speke had made a mistake of about 1,000 feet in his calculations. But we must wait until Dr Livingstone comes home for the detailed information which will enable geographers to pronounce their final judgment on the Nile question If the great explorer traces the lake system which he has discovered into the Tanganyika, and should find, on arriving at Ujiji, the stores and medicines sent there for his use he will proceed to the northern end of the lake, and perhaps follow the affluent. Sir Roderick Murchison thinks he will return to Zanzibar after having ascertained the direction of the drainage of the Tanganyika but Captain Sherard Osborn considers that he will probably follow the outlet and see for himself whether it flows into the Albert N'yanza, and thence into the Nile In the latter case Dr Livingstone would, in all likelihood meet Sir Samuel Baker, and the result of this meeting would be to clear up the great mystery which for centuries, has shrouded the headwaters of the Nile

Following is the Sacramento Union's opinion of the recent message of President Grant Messages have been numerous in which greater learning and higher points of statesmanship have been effected but we recall none more remarkable for force and vigor, brevity with clearness of statement and dignity of tone with admirable temper, than this one of President Grant

On Sea and Land the Great Restorative

As a remedy for the sea-sickness which besets the voyager on his way to and from California and for the disorders which assail the unacclimated emigrant in the unhealthy districts of the interior HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS will be found equally efficacious On no part of the continent has the value of this pure vegetable elixir as a specific for epidemic diseases, been so clearly demonstrated as in the new States and Territories lying contiguous to the Pacific ocean As a means of preventing the distressing and dangerous attacks of fever and the dysenteric and diarrhoeal complaints which are engendered by poison in the air or by the use of water containing a mineral or vegetable taint inimical to health it is confessedly superior to any other tonic and alterative in the world It acts as a preventive agent by strengthening and exhilarating the whole physical organization and producing a regular habit of body All that the human system requires to enable it to resist the deleterious effects of Malaria is increased vigor and vital activity, and these are the inevitable results of a course of this celebrated tonic and corrective, It promotes appetite, facilitates digestion controls the liver regulates and braces the nerves superinduces sound and wholesome sleep invigorates without exciting the pulse and imparts buoyancy to the animal spirits The body and mind toned and cheered by its gentle operation are in a condition to repel all exterior influences which tend to produce disease Flux, dysentery bilious remittents, chills and fever, rheumatism, &c, are almost always caused by atmospheric poison acting upon an unfortified system Brace up the organism and cheer the spirits with this wholesome medicated stimulant and then neither the malaria generated by the filth of crowded cities nor the exhalation of new soils nor the vapid water of a springless region will be likely to produce any serious consequences

WASHINGTON TERRITORY POLITICS

ADDRESS OF THE [illegible] MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO THE REPUBLICANS OF THE TERRITORY

OLYMPIA, W. T., Dec. 1, 1869.

Fellow Citizens—Republicans of Washington Territory: We behold with pride and satisfaction the Republican cause, with the principles of impartial justice, universal freedom, civil and political equality, honest recognition of the nation's debt, protection to American labor, fostering of American interests, gratitude to the nation's brave defenders and economy in the administration of the Government inscribed on its banners, firmly fixed in the hearts of the American people, and nobly sustained at the ballot box. The successful administration of our gallant and efficient President—General Grant,—evinces the wisdom displayed by the party of freedom and progress in placing him at the head of our national affairs,—the right man in the right place.

The reduction of expenses, the rapid extinguishment of the public debt and the purpose to effect an early resumption of specie payments by the Government, as well as the peace and general prosperity of the country, must be highly gratifying to every genuine Republican throughout the land.

Although distant from the seat of the General Government, yet as the senior Territory, evidently on the eve of a rapid influx of population and greatly increased prosperity, we feel a deep interest in the national welfare and its healthful progress. In the face of a zealous and unscrupulous opposition we have maintained the Republican character of this Territory, for a number of years. In April last, in a full convention of representatives of the party, from all parts of the Territory, our candidate for Delegate in Congress was unanimously nominated on the first ballot, and a platform of principles adopted, entirely acceptable to every Republican in the Territory. Approving heartily and unreservedly the principles thus proclaimed, our candidate gallantly carried our cause to a successful issue, and victory perched upon our banner, notwithstanding the extraordinary opposition of the destructive and repudiating Democratic party aided by an unprincipled, disappointed, "rule or ruin" faction, claiming to be Republican, and conducted and led by a few traitorous Federal officials, who have forfeited all right to be considered either Republicans or men of honor or principle. The last named class spared no effort, hesitated not to utter and publish willful falsehoods, violated their word of honor, and openly and covertly endeavored to secure the election of the Democratic candidate. Disappointed and chagrined at their defeat by the people, they have madly and persistently pursued their purpose and policy of disorganizing and defeating the Republican party. Two of their number—Marshall Blinn and E. A. Clarke, of the Legislative Council—have [illegible] every conceivable device to obstruct [illegible] legislation and to prevent the holding of a joint convention of the Legislature and thereby again defeat the election of Republican territorial officers and thus retain the Democratic incumbents in their places for still another term. Their revolutionary, rebellious and dishonorable schemes, were devised, aided and encouraged by the traitorous Federal officials above referred to, assisted by their Democratic allies. Their defeat and discomfiture are due to the united and harmonious action of the Republicans of the Legislature. Having a majority in both Council and House, (not a single member of the House, elected as a Republican, sympathising with the [illegible] and traitorous faction) they have thwarted the nefarious schemes of these two recreant members and their abettors.

Alvan Flanders, having been rejected by his constituents, whilst at Washington, secured his appointment to the office of Governor, by a course that every honorable man would spurn and must [illegible]. Since then he has, in the clandestine and treacherous manner, characteristic of him, lent his personal countenance and support (influence he [illegible]) to the vile purposes and [illegible] of the unprincipled faction of bolting and disappointed politicians in our midst, from the day of the nomination of the Republican convention for Delegate in Congress to the present [illegible]. He has [illegible] in intimate and confidential [illegible] with those who are enemies of the Republican party, and his course has been advised and dictated by them. After consulting leading Democratic members, he has recently committed a high-handed outrage upon the rights of the people, and grossly insulted their representatives by vetoing [illegible] acts of the Legislature, most, if not all of which, were unanimously [illegible] by the House of Representatives and by a large majority of the Council, at its present session.

[illegible] exercise and abuse of power in contravention of the people's will is without a parallel in history, has no shadow of warrant or justification, and [illegible] with the advice, countenance and encouragement of Democratic politicians, and for the purpose of disorganizing and injuring the Republican party, it ought and will receive the emphatic and indignant condemnation of every true Republican and friend of the people's rule. His [illegible] as an Executive exhibits him as the vain and weak but wicked and willing instrument of Democratic politicians, as devoid of honor and principle as himself, and if the best interests and earnest desire of the people of this Territory is [illegible], he will be promptly removed by the President of the United States from the office he [illegible] and which he is incompetent to fill. It is worthy of remark that his veto was sustained by every Democrat, save one, in the House, and that every Republican in the Legislature voted to [illegible].

We would also call your attention to the disloyal utterances and the inconsistent and dishonorable conduct of B. F. Dennison. During the late war for the maintenance of the Union and the National integrity, he uttered and published to the world such sentiments as these: viz: "Another duty incumbent on every patriotic citizen at [illegible] time, is to contribute his voice and influence to swell the tide of public sentiment against any attempt to coerce seceding States by force of arms, to [illegible] in the Union. 1st—Because to preserve the Union by force of arms, we [illegible] if we would. 2d—Because we should not if we could. * * * * * * "We say, furthermore, that we should not, if we could preserve the Union by force of arms. For the Union of the States preserved and cemented by the blood of our fellow citizens shed in civil war, will be not only odious to ourselves, but abhorrent to posterity." Such language, worthy only of a Jeff Davis, emanating from the pen of this B. F. Dennison, and never recalled or apologized for by him, [illegible] the real character of the man now holding the [illegible] of Chief Justice. He has [illegible] his office by doing all in [illegible] the Republican cause and party, and [illegible] the ascendancy of the Democracy in this Territory. He has repeatedly disregarded his pledges and violated his word of honor, [illegible] the clique in their [illegible] and destructive schemes. Disappointed in his political aspirations he is evidently [illegible] to spare no efforts to inflict injury on the Republican party, because it has evinced an entire want of confidence in him. He even went so far as to try to persuade members of the Republican Convention held at Vancouver last spring, to nominate a man who was subsequently placed in nomination by the Democratic Convention as their candidate for Congress. He has labored ever since to disorganize and divide the Republican party, and has had as his abettors in addition to those already named, a few disappointed and corrupt politicians, together with F. A. Wilson, Collector of Customs and Philip Ritz, United States Marshal, who have used their power and influence, directly and indirectly, to inflict injury on the Republican cause, and have co-operated with the faction referred to in promoting their infamous schemes. These men holding official positions, having forfeited the confidence reposed in them by a Republican administration, and prostituted the patronage and power of their offices to the basest purposes should be, and we trust will be, speedily removed to the shades of private life, and thus made powerless for mischief.

These recreant and selfish politicians have recently been secretly circulating a pronunciamento teeming with misrepresentation and falsehood, in which they have the effrontery to still claim to be Republicans, in order to deceive the unsuspecting and obtain their names thereto. So far they have signally failed, as the public are to a considerable extent aware of their real character, as well as their purpose to bring a third candidate in the field at the next election for delegate and thus aid the Democratic candidate. Republicans! we call upon you by your patriotism and love of the principles we cherish, to be on your guard against the wiles and schemes of secret foes and open enemies, and to maintain an unbroken front. By vigilance, energy and unity, let us maintain our ascendancy in the Territory, and march shoulder to shoulder, with the great Republican army of the Union. As your representatives, we point to our record, as the evidence of our fidelity to your interests and consistent devotion to the principles of the great Republican party, and confidently rely upon your hearty approval.

DEFENSE OF LOPEZ.—A word for Lopez is uttered by a naval officer who has arrived here from South America and gives some particulars about the Paraguayans and the Allies. He states that the Uruguay contingent, if the deserters from Lopez's army were left out, would not muster a respectable platoon, and in the Argentine Confederation and Uruguay the feeling was intensely in favor of Lopez. He also states that the government vessel which took the despatches from the State Department in January 1869 passed up the Paraguay river until she reached the blockade of the Allied army, where she was stopped. The Allies undertook to forward the despatches, and the mail bag was delivered to them. The vessel then went aground and lay there for forty three days. The United States officers were allowed to go on shore, and in their intercourse with the Uruguayan authorities it was ascertained that the mail bag which was to have been sent to Lopez had been thrown aside and no attention whatever paid to it. The excuse made for its non delivery was that Lopez did not receive flags of truce. But the truth was that the Allies would receive no flags of truce from him and fired on every one he had sent.—Washington Republican.

Proposal.

The undersigned ——, whose post office address is ——, county of ——, State of ——, proposes to convey the mails of the United States from July 1, 1870, to June 30, 1874, on route No. ——, between —— and ——, under the advertisement of the Postmaster General dated September 30, 1869, with "celerity, certainty, and security," for the annual sum of —— dollars.

This proposal is made with full knowledge of the distance of the route, the weight of the mail to be carried, and all other particulars in reference to the route and service, and also after careful examination of the laws and instructions attached to the advertisement.

Dated (Signed.)

Guarantee.

The undersigned, residing at ——, State of ——, undertake that if the foregoing bid for carrying the mail on route No. —— be accepted by the Postmaster General, the bidder shall, prior to the 1st day of July, 1870, enter into the required obligation or contract to perform the service proposed, with good and sufficient sureties.

This we do, understanding distinctly the obligations and liabilities assumed by guarantors under the 27th section of the act of Congress of July 2, 1836.

Dated (Signed by two guarantors.)

Certificate.

The undersigned, postmaster at ——, State of ——, certifies, UNDER HIS OATH OF OFFICE, that he is acquainted with the above guarantors, and knows them to be men of property, and able to make good their guarantee.

INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS AND POSTMASTERS.

Containing also conditions to be incorporated in the contracts to the extent the Department may deem proper.

1. Seven minutes are allowed to each intermediate office, when not otherwise specified, for assorting the mails, but on railroad and steamboat routes there is to be no more delay than is sufficient for an exchange of the mail pouches.

2. On railroad and steamboat lines, and other routes where the mode of conveyance admits of it, the special agents of the Post Office Department, also post office blanks, mail bags, locks and keys, are to be conveyed without extra charge.

3. On railroad and steamboat lines the route agents of the Department, also the British and Canada mails, when offered, and the agents accompanying them, are conveyed without charge; and for the use of the United States agents a commodious car, or part of a car, properly lighted, warmed, and furnished and adapted to the convenient separation and due security of the mails, is to be provided by the contractor, under the direction of the Department.

Railroad and steamboat companies are required to take the mail from, and deliver it into, the postoffices at the beginning and end of their routes, and to and from all offices not more than eighty rods from a station or landing. Proposals may be submitted by the companies for the performance of all other side service—that is, for offices over eighty rods from a station or landing.

There will be "way bills" prepared by postmasters, or other agents of the Department, to accompany the mails conveyed on railroads and steamers, specifying the number and destination of the several bags. On other principal routes, likewise, receipts will be required and way bills forwarded, the latter to be examined by the several postmasters, to insure regularity in the delivery of mails.

4. No pay will be made for trips not performed; and for each of such omissions, not satisfactorily explained, three times the pay of the trip will be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connection with depending mails and not sufficiently excused, one-fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. For repeated delinquencies of the kind herein specified, enlarged penalties, proportioned to the nature thereof, and the importance of the mail may be made.

5. For leaving behind or throwing off the mails, or any portion of them, for the admission of passengers, or for being concerned in setting up or running an express conveying intelligence in advance of the mail, a quarter's pay may be deducted.

6. Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be promptly and satisfactorily explained by certificates of postmasters or the affidavits of other credible persons, for failing to arrive in contract time; for neglecting to take the mail from or deliver it into a postoffice; for suffering it to be wet, injured, destroyed, robbed or lost; and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs, or is concerned in running, a coach, car, or steamboat on a route.

7. The Postmaster General may annul the contract for repeated failures to run agreeably to contract; for violating the post office laws, or disobeying the instructions of the Department; for refusing to discharge a carrier when required by the Department to do so; for running an express as aforesaid; or for transporting persons or packages conveying mailable matter out of the mail.

8. The Postmaster General may order an increase of service on a route by allowing therefor a pro rata increase on the contract pay. He may change schedules of departures and arrivals in all cases, and particularly to make them conform to connections with railroads, without increase of pay, provided the running time be not abridged. The Postmaster General may also discontinue or curtail the service in whole or in part, in order to place on the route superior service, or whenever the public interests in his judgment shall require such discontinuance or curtailment for any other cause, he allowing as full indemnity to contractor one month's extra pay on the amount of service dispensed with, and a pro rata compensation for the amount of service retained and continued.

9. Payments will be made by collections from, or drafts on postmasters, or otherwise, after the expiration of each quarter—say in November, February, May and August.

10. The distances are given according to the best information, but no increase of pay will be allowed should they be greater than advertised, if the points to be supplied are correctly stated. Bidders must inform themselves on this point, and also in reference to the weight of the mail, the nature of the roads, hills, streams, &c., and all toll bridges, ferries, or obstructions of any kind by which expense may be incurred. No claim for additional pay based on such ground can be considered; nor for alleged mistakes or misapprehension as to the degree of service; nor for bridges destroyed, ferries discontinued, or other obstructions increasing distance or expense occurring during the contract term. Offices established after the advertisement is issued, and also during the contract term, are to be visited without extra pay, if the distance be not increased.

11. Bids are required to be for all the routes ... [illegible]

12. [illegible]

13. [illegible]

14. [illegible]

15. [illegible]

[illegible]

16. The bids should be sealed, superscribed "Mail Proposals, State of Oregon," [illegible]

[illegible] Second Assistant Postmaster General, [illegible] and sent by mail, not by or to an agent; and postmasters will not receive proposals for [illegible] in their quarterly returns.

17. The contracts are to be executed and returned to the Department by or before the 1st day of [illegible], but the service must be begun on that day, or on the day [illegible] whether the contracts be executed or not.

Transfers of contracts, or of interest in contracts, [illegible] and consequently cannot be allowed. Bidders will therefore take notice that they will be expected to perform the service accepted to them through the whole term of the contract.

18. Postmasters at offices on or near railroads, but more than eighty rods from a station, will, immediately after the 1st of March next, report their exact distance from the nearest station, to enable the Postmaster General to [illegible] messenger supply from the [illegible].

19. Section [illegible] of an act of Congress, approved March [illegible], 1845, provides that contracts for the transportation of the mail shall be let "in every case to the lowest bidder tendering sufficient guarantees for faithful performance, without other references to the mode of such transportation than may be necessary to provide for the due celerity, certainty and security of such transportation." Under this law bids that propose to use [illegible] with "celerity, certainty and security" have been decided to be the only legal bids, and are preferred on the entire mail [illegible] the mode of conveyance [illegible] "celerity, certainty and security" [illegible] are [illegible].

20. A modification of a bid in any of its essential terms is tantamount to a new bid, and cannot be received, so as to interfere with regular competition, after the last hour set for receiving bids.

21. Postmasters are to be careful not to certify the sufficiency of guarantors or sureties, without knowing that they are persons of sufficient responsibility. Disregard of this instruction by postmasters is a violation of their oath of office, subjecting them to [illegible]. All bidders, guarantors and sureties are distinctly notified that, on a failure to enter into or perform the contracts for the service proposed for in the accepted bids, their legal liabilities will be enforced against them.

22. Present contractors and persons known at the Department must equally with others procure guarantors and certificates of their sufficiency substantially in the forms above prescribed. The certificates of sufficiency must be signed by a postmaster or by a judge of a court of record. No other will be [illegible].
